Congressmen Opposed To His Policies Run To Cover When They Find He Is Going To Carry His Point With Nation

(Associated Press by Pederal Wireless.) ASHINGTON, March 2-President Wilson is winning all along the line. The congressmen who tound themselves aligned against him are running to cover as fast as possible, pocketing their various resolutions warning Americans against using armed merchant ships flying the flag of any of the allied a-tions, and the situation is rapidly smoothing itself out.

The President has taken a positive stand and has warned the leaders in congress that unless they abstain from moves that will embarrass him in his conduct of the foreign affairs of the nations he will be unable to continue his negotiations with Germany and Austria on the questions raised by submarine policy of those nations.

President Demands Vote

Mr. Wilson insisted that he wants vote on the resolutions now pending in the house, warning all citizens of the United States against traveling tion vessels carrying any form of weapon for offerse or defense. In other words the President desires to put solous upon record before going farther with his negetiations. He told congressional leaders who railed upon him at the White House yesterday, that he is not minded to secept any compromise. The issue be fore the house and the people, he said, is a clear cut end, and one upon which he himself, and the people of the coun-try are entitled to know just how congress stands. Scorns Confidence Vote Talk of a vote of confidence in his administration was met by the chief executive with the statement that this would not serve. He does not want a vote of confidence, he said, pleasant as such a vote might be at some other time. What he needs at present is definite information as to the attitude of the congressmen on the question of chantmen. This information he added is indespensible to the proper conduct of his foreign policy. The firm stand taken by the Presidear is believed to have utterly broken the opposition to his plans which spring up in the house of representatives and the senate tast week, and it is reported that many of the authors of resolutions dealing with travel upon armed merchant craft, have pocketed those resolutions and are prepared to forget
